

Marshall's Manifesto for Education

With the largest school building programme since Victorian times now underway across the UK, Marshall's, as the UK's leading hard landscaping transformation company, has set out its pledge to transform outdoor educational landscapes for all children and young people and launched its Manifesto for Education in 2009.

In the last three years alone, Marshall's has supplied over 1,860 schools with hard landscaping, outdoor furniture and water management solutions. We aim to help create outdoor play areas which will increase learning opportunities, provide stimulating and creative environments for children to play and to encourage beneficial exercise and social interaction.

Marshall's pledge:

- To use our knowledge and experience to provide the education sector with the tools and integrated product solutions they need to transform their landscapes
- To provide easily accessible information, resources and guidance to create a stimulating outdoor environment
- To provide materials that will help with pupil and community consultation and engagement
- To continue to support local community based projects to help build a sense of community and provide opportunity for increased learning
- To lead the industry in providing educational landscapes with sustainable solutions which consider all social, economic and environmental factors.
